Schools

There are two nutrient management training schools. The Soil Science, Soil Fertility, Crop Production School is a lecture series by Virginia Tech professors and DCR staff members. Based on the topics covered, it could be characterized as a mini-agronomy class.

The Nutrient Management Plan Writing School deals with writing nutrient management plans using Virginia's criteria. This is a hands-on session in which participants complete exercises using farm case-study information to write the various components of a nutrient management plan.

Both schools are fast-paced; some agricultural background will help participants better understand the material. No pre-requisites are required to attend these schools. Participants may choose to attend either or both schools depending on their individual need to meet the educational requirement for certification. Space is limited; registration is first-come, firstserved.
